Missouri Weekly Hay Summary

The hay market continues to see a large amount of activity. Many calls are being answered from producers in states to the north, looking for an outlet to sell their hay. The hay market remains strong as producers find it difficult to find any hay in which the trucking doesn't end up costing as much as the hay. Above normal temperatures have been a blessing, especially considering the winter storms that have hit other states. Although several areas are now fighting to feed through the mud, water is becoming a concern to some in west-central and north central parts of the state, as they have missed recent rains. The supply of hay is light, demand is good, and prices firm. The Missouri Department of Agriculture has a hay hotline available for buyers and sellers.
