Missouri Weekly Hay Summary

Farmers continue to be very busy not only normal duties of farm work but also playing full time weatherman as they try to figure out how to get hay baled dry, dodging storms and pop up showers. Many gallons of fuel were burned this week mostly south of I-70. Last week's news of the release of CRP acres has caused quite a stir and provided plenty to talk about in the coffee shops. For the hay producers it generally came as disappointing news but for the cattle feeder it was a small ray of hope that could be a life saver. Hay prices are firm; the supply and demand are moderate.
