Missouri Weekly Hay Summary

Residents saw quite the spectrum of weather this past week, with some areas getting up to 10 inches of snow on Saturday and finishing up this week with temperatures reaching the low 70s. The scattered days of warm temperatures has allowed a few plants in the southern part of the state to start showing green and even a few buds to appear even though average last frost date is still several weeks away. One thought in the back of all farmers minds as the new growing season nears is the hope that they see nothing like the floods from last year. A handful of sellers are still moving small amounts of hay but supply far outweighs demand. The supply of hay is moderate to heavy, demand light and prices steady to mostly weak as the hay market is seeing the same pressures as every other sector of the economy. The Missouri Department of Agriculture has a hay hotline available for both buyers and sellers. To be listed, or for a directory, call 1-800-877-4HAY (4429) or visit <http://www.mda.mo.gov/pdf/MOHayDirectory.pdf>.
